Andrew Ucles

Wildlife Adventurer

Andrew Ucles is a passionate, unique and eccentric Australian wildlife adventurer from Wollongong NSW. He has always had an insatiable curiosity for learning about wild animals. With a Bachelor of Environmental Science, he not only understands the idiosyncrasies of animals and nature but how fragile nature and its ecosystems can be. Andrew is also part of the one of the world's most elite surveillance and reconnaissance units of the military, 'The NorForce' division of the Australian Defence Force. His unique skills and abilities have been recognized by the Australian Defence Force and he is currently undertaking the relevant training to become a certified Survival Instructor. He has also caught the attention of many production companies around the world including Discovery International, German prime time productions, UK science shows, Japanese adventure programs and most recently has been a contestant on the 6th season of popular TV show Survivor Australia 'Brains vs Brawn' 2021.

With a YouTube Channel with over 575K subscribers and views over 104 million, the demand for Andrew in television world is skyrocketing.
